GRADE REVIEW

The first grade started off with 26 enrolled. There were 16 boys and 10 girls.

The first grade reading began with a reading readiness book entitled, BEFORE WE READ. This was followed by three preprimers, one primer, and one first reader. These required readers were completed by the middle of March. After that, we completed a very difficult first reader called HEALTH STORIES. All enjoyed this supplementary reading material very much.

The Library Club has been very helpful and enjoyable. In this club, the children read books at home. As much as possible, these books were checked on return. Thanks to the parents for their cooperation in this reading club.

In arithmetic, reading and writing numbers to one hundred was the first work undertaken. This has been followed by measurements telling time, money value, Roman numerals, number words, and addition and subtraction of small numbers.

The trips away from school have been to the fish hatchery at Syracuse, the air port, and numerous trips about town.

The school year 1950-1951 found the second grade a busy, happy room with twenty-boys and ten girls. During the year two more girls joined us.

Reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, English, and health, our basic work, kept us busy; but we found time for several parties and games and story periods which we all enjoyed.

Miss McDowell helped us put on a fine music program. Thank you for all our nice art pictures.

Several new books were added to our library.

We were glad for all the parents who visited us.

So long we will see you next year as third grade people.

The third grade consists of eleven girls and nineteen boys Ada Miller moved to Michigan but Joy Graber and Richard Kauffman joined us. John Holtzinger has been a shut-in classmate since the first week of December. He does his school work at home and has private classes two hours a week.

The activities of the year have varied. An excursion to Stanley's Super Market was indeed a super one. Choral speaking was often enjoyed toward the close of a busy day. A steady growth of each child was observed when the heights and weights were recorded in October, January, and April.

The fourth grade started with twenty pupils. Larry Kauffman and Helen Shaffer moved away. Later Sharon Eash entered. They liked their new desks and the new library books.

They enjoyed their Bible Study, art music, and song flute lessons. Much interest was shown in the geography classes by the pupils bringing things produced by people of other countries, Maps, stenography, and view master sets were used as aids in geography and health. Some liked arithmetic so well they worked far ahead of the class. Most of them liked reading stories, especailly those about animals, birds, and other things of nature. The Busy Bee Book Club gave practice and interest in English library reading and also lessons in leadership and service.

This year we started out with twenty-nine pupils. Later we received another, Franklin Graber, from North Dakota.

We have enjoyed a real school year with some educational movies, and quite a lot of new reading books were added to our room library.

Our year's attendance has been quite good. The usual flu bug got some, Measles caught a few, But most of the pupils have gone through with pretty good attendance records.

Most of the 5 & 6 Grade News this year was written by Martha Stroup and Marybell Kauffman, the 5 & 6 reporters.

The 5 & 6 grade boys' basketball team, with Mr. Troyer as their coach, had a good season playing Clinton Community School twice, New Paris twice, and Concord twice.

This year we enjoyed being up stairs with the big folks. The fourth grade got the old fifth and sixth grade room, and wewewere put upstairs in the old seventh and eighth grade room. This was done because of the school's crowded condition.

ACTIVITIES REVIEW

DRAMATICS CLUB

In conjunction with the public speaking class, a dramatics club was formed with the following officers:

President . . . . . .Lyle Burtsfield
Vice president. . . . .Emily Scott
Secretary-treasurer . . .Peg Schrock
Reporter . . . . . Richard Groff

The purpose of the club was to create interest in public speaking and to provide a training ground for the public speaking class before a real audience.

During the year the club entertained at several public functions with two one-act plays. "Dear Lady, Be Brave" was used as a part of the county exchange program given at the New Paris School.

The two plays, with their casts, were:

DEAR LADY, BE BRAVE

Dr. Clark, a young physician . . . . . .Bob Musselman
Mr. William Tandy, a bachelor . . . . . .Glen Shewalter
Miss Sweet — unattached young ladies . . . . . .Emily Scott
Miss Montgomery — unattached young ladies . . . . . .Lois Swihart
Miss McLendon — unattached young ladies . . . . . .Peg Schrock

BACHELOR'S LEAGUE

Jim Holt. . . . . .Richard Groff
Tom Reynolds. . . . . .Lyle Burtsfield
Joe Clark. . . Four bachelors. . . . . .Glen Shewalter
Artie Thomas. . . . . .Bob Musselman
Jennie Granger, a strange young woman. . . . . .Peg Schrock
Director. . . . . .Lois Swihart
Stage manager. . . . . Emily Scott

Needless to say, the ameteur dramatists had great fun in producing and giving each of these plays.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

This year there were 30 girls in the glee club, and the officers were:

President. . . . . .Carol Petry
Sec. & Treas. . . . . .Esther Brenneman
Reporter. . . . . .Sharon Kurtz
Accompanist. . . . . .Margaret Groff
Sponsor. . . . . .Miss McDowell

(CONT'D)

Some of the Glee Club attended an opera, "La Traviata," in Chicago on November 18.

We held an exchange program with New Paris on January 15.

The Girls' Glee Club sang in the County Music Festival on January 27. Millersburg served as the host to the other schools that attended. Some of the schools were New Paris, Jamestown, Middlebury, Wakarusa, Jefferson and Bristol. We had the pri lege of having Mr. Robert Shambau as director.

On March 9, we held our School Music Festival in which the lower grades also participated.

The Glee Club then attended the Destrict Vocal Contest at New Haven, Indiana, on March 31, in which they placed for second division.

At the closing of the year a double sexette, chosen from the Glee Club, sang for Baccalaureate and Commencement.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Several of the F. F. A. boys went with Mr. Howard to the District F. F. A. meeting at Bremen September 5. The "green hands" were taken into the club October 7. The annual pest contest was held from December 1 to February 1. The spring and fall scrap-paper drive were both complete successes.

The F. F. A. put some of the posts around the ball diamond to keep the people from driving on it when they came to the basketball games.

The club also started a new project this year. They brought a gilt which a senior boy will take care of for the spring litter; then another senior will take care of it for the fall litter. Next year it will go to one of the present juniors. In a few years this project should expand so that every senior boy in the club will have a gilt at sometime during the year.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY

The Sunshine Society this year had 25 members. The officers were:

President.....Esther Brenneman
Vice Presient.....Carol Petry
Secretary.....Sharon Kurtz
Recording Sec.....Marilyn Litwiller
Treasurer.....Arlene Saggers
Chorister.....Burdene Sholine
Reporter.....Janice Rohrer
Sponsor.....Miss Saddler

(CONT'D)

The first event of the year for the S. S. S. was a get-together party so the girls could become better acquainted with each other.

We then planned a Father and Daughter banquet for the last of November, but it had to be canceled because of weather conditions. The club then decided to have a Parents Program in the spring.

During basketball season the girls sponsored a cake raffle at each home game. On March 24, the club had a bake sale. On these projects the girls made slightly over $100.

On April 11, the Parents Program was given with about 65 attending. That night Peg Schrock was crowned Ideal Sunshine Girl, and all five senior girls were given sweaters.

Come on, girls! Why not have a bigger and better Sunshine Society next year!

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The G. A. A. started with 23 girls with three dropping out later in the year. The officers were:

President. . . . . Peg Schrock
Vice president. . . . . Burdene Sheline
Secretary & Treasurer. . Marilyn Litwiller
Recording Secretary. . . Pat Nash
Reporter. . . . . Bonnie Musselman
Sponsors. . . . . Miss Hoar and Miss Saddler

At the beginning of the year the girls played softball until the weather was unfavorable. They sponsored a softball tourney between the upper four classes. The sophomores won.

Next the G. A. A. started to play basketball in the gym. They also sponsored a basketball tourney. The sophomores were "champs" in that, too. The girls then began setting up the point system. They joined the state organization and voted to send two members to the state G. A. A. camp.

The girls met every Friday noon and a few times after school.

They went to Elkhart on April 25 to play volleyball.

RECEPTION

On May 18, the junior-senior reception was held in the gym. It was decorated to represent a garden just off a plantation veranda, in keeping with the theme "Southern Plantation." A well was in the center of the "garden" with the tables arranged around it in hexagon fashion. A stone wall surrounded the garden, and streamers of green and white were hung from the rafters to add color. A white gate was at the entrance.

After the guests found their places the banquet was served by the "colored" waiters and waitresses chosen from the sophomore class. They were dressed in bright shirts, trousers, and dresses.

The menu consisted of pineapple cocktail, baked ham, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, parkerhouse rolls, butter, strawberry jam, tossed salad, toasted almond ice cream, butterscotch sauce, vanilla wafers, and coffee.

The master of ceremonies was Richard Kehr. The welcomewas given by Carol Petry of the juniors, and Glen Showalter responded for the seniors. Carlysle Chiddister and Esther Brenneman gave short readings related to the South. The high school boys' quartet composed of Carlysle Chiddister, Glen Showalter, Bob Musselman, and Ancil Schrock sang tow numbers. A speech intitled "Southern Creativeness" was given by Miss Hoar, junior class sponsor. Bill Lewallen led the group in singing southorn songs. Mr. Davis, senior class sponsor, spoke on "Traditions." Piano and accordian music was played during the evening by Miss Margaret Boyts of Goshen, Indiana.

SENIOR PLAY

On December 13, a crowd gathered at the high school gymnasium to watch the seniors present "Mr. Merkle's Muddle."

The play was about Tabby McGraw and Jinx Keller, Tabby's cousin from across the street, who sent a picture of their dead Aunt Amanda to a matrimonial bureau just to get rid of it. The picture had been left with the McGraw family for safe keeping by Cousin Sara, who was away fighting a war. Tabby and Jinx did not know that Mr. Merkle, the town's most prosperous and unprincipled real estate man, had been hopefully corresponding with the same bureau. Of course, the matrimonial agency matched Mr. Merkle up with dead old dead Auntie.

Tabby, terrified by this turn, was ready to confess the deed when she discovered that Mr. Merkle was evicting Clarence Ingles, a hero recently returned from the South Pacific war. So disgusted was Tabby by this time she decided to pursue the mail order "romance" to the very end.

Mr. Merkle discovered the hoax and was wild with rage. He not only was determined to evict Clarence Ingles, but brought the McGraw and Keller homes so as to dispossess these two families as well.

Still, unappeased, he threatened suit against the matrimonial agency for their part in the fraud, unless they got him a wife. Rather than pay damages, they sent him, without delay, a mammoth being in the person of Cousin Sara. The McGraws were flabbergasted to see Cousin Sara, who told them of her marriage that morning. She stopped the evictions of the McGraws and Kellers because they were relatives, now even Mr. Merkle's kin.

JUNIOR PLAY

"Mama's Angel Child" under the direction of Mrs. Snyder was presented by the junior class on April 18 at 7:45 in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. Charmer, a forty-five year-old mother, looking much younger, is at her wit's and financial end. So gathering together what cash she can, she takes her attractive young daughter, Daphne, to a small but exclusive summer resort hoping that Daphne will make an advantageous match. To this same hotel comes Horace Bagley, a millionaire, with his step-son, Dick Armstrong, a college football star. Horace is seeking to get away from females who would wed him for his fortune.

When Mrs. Charmer hears that the wealthy Bagley is in the hotel, she insists that Daphne set her cap for him. But Daphne has other plans. At a football game, she has seen the handsome Dick Armstrong on the field and fallen in love with him, although they've never met. And furthermore, she refuses to become interested in Bagley because he is so much older than she.

Knowing that many elderly men prefer younger women, Mrs. Charmer hits upon a plan to pose as much younger than she really is and have Daphne dress and act as a little child. Daphne is rebellious but finally consents. When Daphne is in the garb of a little girl, she plays the part and is one of the most overbearing "brats" who ever existed.

And then Daphne runs into Dick, dressed as an infant, but wins him with her cute, precociousness. Mrs. Charmer, in more youthful attire, finds no difficulty in winning the heart of Bagley. A telegram found by Ellen, Mrs. Charmer's old family servant, discloses the fact that Bagley has lost all his money in the stock market, but by this time, Mrs. Charmer has really fallen in love with the kindly old millionaire and declared that she will marry him even if he is penniless. But the telegram proves to be a mistake and Bagley finds a woman who cares for him for himself and not his money.

Daphne finally reveals her own age and that of her mother. Bagley is delighted that Mrs. Charmer is nearer his own age and Daphne wins the hand and heart of his step-son.

VALEDICTORY

Parents, Teachers, Friends,

Tonight marks one of the last occasions on which we shall be together. It will not be long before we shall leave this school and all our friends behind and go out to find our place in life. At this time we want to take the opportunity to thank everyone here for the help and co-operation you have given us throughout the years. We realize that we would not be here tonight if it had not been for your help. It is going to be hard to leave this building and all the memories it holds for us; especially when we know that there are some here tonight that we may never see again. But all good things in life come to an end sooner or later, so we must take this philosophically and spend our few remaining days together in enjoying our friends.

Four years ago, as freshmen, we met together and chose "Launched, but not Anchored" as our class motto. At first it did not mean much to us, but lately, as each day has brought us nearer to graduation, we have realized more fully what it means. Our school days can be likened to the building of a ship. When our schooling first started, approximately the same building material was available for everyone. We sorted this material ourselves and took what we thought would satisfy our own needs or desires; everything that actually went into the building process depended entirely upon us. Now that graduation is drawing nearer we realize that with a little extra time on our part we could have built our ships far stronger. We know now that the time we spent in merely fooling around could have been spent to a far better advantage in the building of our ships. But like many other things, our realization has come too late. Our ships are due for launching, and we are searching in vain for building material that could have been ours earlier if we had only taken it.

Our launching time has finally arrived, and we are leaving our sheltered harbor to sail out into the sea of life. A sea that is twice as stormy now because of the present world conditions. Here is the test of our ships; soon we shall find out if they will survive the storm or if they will sink.

As we leave here tonight, I want to wish each one a happy voyage. I hope everyone will survive the storm and find a safe and happy anchorage in the sea of life.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

Ma talking: Pa is sort of a quiet feller. He never says hardly anything; I guess that's cause I do most of the talking. Another thing about Pa is he has a way with the women folk. I guess I never would of got him if it weren't for my big brother and my dad; they went out after him one Sunday morning and we were married that afternoon. I still don't know how they done it so quick. Wal, here he is. We kind of decided he'd do most o the talkin' tonite. Spit out thet chaw, Paw, and come on up here.

Pa talking: Sech a long winded person I never did see. The only reason she let me do the talking tonite is that she is so bashful; you noticed how she turned red, didn't you? Ma always has been that-a-way though. Why the first time ah saw her, thet was the day her brother and dad decided she should get married, she turned so red thet people came from miles around with buckets of water askin whar the fire was. "Haw" "Haw" thet's a little bit exagerated but then it ain't often I gits to talk so much at one time.

Wal Maw says I'm supposed to tell you folks about all our kids. I guess I can start out with Hans Emazus. Now Hans is kind of bashful, but he's an awful good worker. Another thing about Hans is, he likes to sing; thet kid is always singin no matter what he's a doin. Stand up there Hans.

Next is Liga Keith. Keith is also a pretty good worker, but he's always a running away from home after girls and somebody's always fetching him back. Git up there Keith.

Next is George Abraham. I guess George is the littlest one we got but then don't let looks deceive ya, he kin take his part amongst any a the otherns. Funny thing about George though, and thet is he never wants to go anywhere. When all the other kids go to parties, he never wants to go along. I guess right along with George we ought to mention his twin brother, Lyle Mortimer. Now don't ask me how it happened cause I don't know; all I know is they were born on the same day in the same year. Why ther's as much difference between em as the north and south pole. I guess Lyle's about the best natured of the lot, but it's just awful hard to get him to work as you kin see. Wal, next we got Richard Luke. Now if you ever want to find Richard, just go out into the woods and there you'll find him huntin. That boy is just crazy about dogs. Another thing about him though is that he's kind of girl crazy; show yourself there Richard.

After Luke comes Glen Amos. Now as you kin see, Glen, along with Richard there, has about the curliest hair in the family; he gits thet from my side. Glen is also a little bit short, along with George over here. There is one thing I can't understand about thet boy and thet is, one day he comes up to me and says, "Pa kin I have $17 for a class ring," and I asked him if it was necessary. He said yes, so I gave it to him. I ain't seen the ring yet, and thet was more than a year ago; Now where it got to I don't know. Stand up there, Glen.

Now next is Dick Eli. Dick is another that all he wants to do is hunt and fish, but he's a good worker. There is something else though and that is he's an awful good car mechanic. Stand up there Dick.

Next here is Junior Clem. Now Junior is another short one along with a few a the others, and he's a pretty good worker. But Gosh Omighty, all that kid wants to do is sleep; we have the awfullest time gettin' him up. Junior also likes sports pretty well; stand up there Junior.

Next is Richard Lester. Now you might wonder why we named him such a prominet name as Richard Lester. Well, when he was born we thought he was, among all our boys, going to amount to something; he had the intelligent look. But boy what a disappointment! Oh, I guess he's as smart as any of the boys but some of the things he thinks of, 'sech' as puttin' a big spring on the handle of the ax and a weight on the head so the ax would work itself while he sits in the shade. Wave to to em Richard.

Next is John Ezra. Now John is a pretty good worker if he 'gits' enough sleep, but my land he never gets in from courtin' at nite till it's time to start chores in the mornin'. He's an awful fast runner though; he runs rabbits down instead o shootin' em. Git up there John.

Now the last of my boys is Bob Hezikia. I guess Bob is about the tallest kid I got, and he's the most awkward. Why that kid can't walk from the barn to the house with a bucket of milk without spilling it. And there's another always trying to invent something to save work. Why just the other day, he was a studying awful hard, and I asked him what he was a doing. He said that he was trying to invent an alarm clock which would go out and do chores and then wake him up. Wal that takes care o the boys.

We ain't got near as many girls as boys; still there is a good bunch. Over here on my right is Emily Amanda. Emily helps Ma a lot around here with the washing and such. But she likes sports awful well; she is all the time playing games with the boys so I guess she was born to be a boy. Stand up there Emily.

Next is Lois Abigale. Lois helps Ma a lot too. She also kinda likes sports, but most of all she is the smartest in the family; she is always a' readin' a book of some kind. Stand up there Lois.

Next is Peg Matilda. Peg is just the opposite of Emily; she would rather be inside workin' than outside playin ball with the boys. Not that she doesn't like boys; one night not so long ago she came home here sportin' a new ring on her finger, and just as happy as a moon beam. Yep, you guessed it; she's a' goin' steady, whatever that means. Stand up there Peg.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

Next is Burdene Fansy. Now here is the cook of the family; boy that girl can cook! She's gonna make some feller an awful good wife. I kinda think she has got her eye on one in particular. Burdene also likes animals the best of any of the girls. Git up Burdene.

Well, that kind of finishes the introductions of my little family, and I believe that this is the best minding family there is in Millersburg.

CLASS POEM

Every year a senior class
Must say farewell and part,
Go to the way that fate directs,
Keep only memories in their hearts.

The moment now has come for us.
We are meeting here tonight
For one last fling at high school fun
Before we take our flight.

We are leaving friends and teachers
Who have shared these last four years,
To go forth into the world
To search for our careers.

We meet tonight as farmers, who
Are the backbone of our race.
A simple, homey type of folk.
You will find most any place.

When we go out into the world,
We will keep them as our theme.
And try to make our lives like theirs,
Simple, honest, hardworking and clean.

Lois Swihart

CLASS HISTORY

Well, here we are, back on the farm again after four long years, to review our activities of those eventful years; but it does seem good to be home again with Dad and Mother and with all the family together again, for the first time in these past four years. The time has gone fast, and the events will always be remembered. Just think, Mother and Dad, when we started out four years ago, we numbered 31, and tonight 17 of us surround you, waiting for that promised ice-cream and cake. Out of the 31, we selected:

President----------Glen Showalter
Vice President----Burdene Sheline
Secretary-Treasurer----Ora Troyer
Reporter----------Joan Stutzman
Sponsor----------Mrs. Gunden

Our first Great Moment was the initiation party sponsored by the sophomores. They were pretty rough on us, but we took it gracefully thinking that OUR turn would come next year.

Our first class party was held at the Groff home, December 16; we chose our class motto, our class colors, and our class flower. We were really "going places" now with these important details in our records. We received our class sweaters January 2 and felt very important.

And Ma, do you remember when the next party was? Well, I'll tell you--it was when you entertained the class on March 2, out on the farm, and what a good time we had!

And now our first year was rapidly coming to a close and this was climaxed by a party and picnic on the bank of Elkhart River, south of Millersburg.

September 1948 found 26 of the original 31, returning as sophomores. Now we proceeded to elect as officers:

President----------Glen Showalter
Vice President------Bob Musselman
Secretary-Treasurer---Peg Schrock
Reporter----------Jewell Stutzman
Sponsor----------Mr. Miller

We asserted our rights in a big way on October 19 when we had the pleasure and privilege of initiating the ones we could now refer to as FRESHMEN. There has never been an initiation night since then, and we are still wondering why!!!

After that eventful initiation night, our activities sort of went blank for a while, but on February 8, we launched a gym party. Good times are fine, but we did need cash so we sold Christmas cards to raise money for the necessities of our class.

On Aprill 7, we ordered our class rings. The ordering was a thrill but the waiting period seemed endless; however, we had something to look forward to, those rings! With the vision of those rings, we rolled down the curtain on another year with a picnic in Ollie Pence's grove.

Next September found 22 of our 26 of last year, returning now as juniors. Bob Musselman took the honored chair of President; Glen Showalter as the follow-up man, Vice President; and Peg Schrock was a hold-over from the sophomore year as Secretary-Treasurer; Keith Shaffer was selected as Reporter; and Miss Hooley was our Sponsor.

On October 8, Glen Showalter entertained us at his home at an out-door party. Our next social function was a party on December 13, when the winners in the magazine sales were entertained by the losing team. On March 1, the class sponsored an all-school skating party; several of the members attending preferred to stand rather than sit the following day. And on April 12, we gave our Class Play, "Tons of Trouble". We had already proved ourselves able and efficient sportsmen as our record will prove to you. We, the girls, defeated the sophomores in the softball tourney, and the boys won both the basketball and the softball tourney.

On May 12, the event of the year--the Junior-Senior reception and banquet--was a reality after much planning since February. This was the night that definitely put us, the juniors, pretty close to the top round of the ladder!

Our selection of a picnic site last year suited us pretty well, so we again returned to the same familiar spot, the Ollie Pence picnic grounds.

Our senior year opened for us with 17 members of our previous 22: our officers for this final year were:

President----------Glen Showalter
Vice President------Bob Musselman
Secretary-Treasurer-Keith Shaffer
Reporter-----------Richard Groff
Sponsor----------Mr. Davis

Our class was not to be forgotten in the Student Council and we were very proud to have John Lantzer and Bob Musselman elected President and Vice President of this school organization; two members of our class, Ronald Miller and Glen Showalter, were elected representatives of the Council.

The class was entertained by Allen Fisher in his country home October 31 at a Halloween party.

The boys won the softball tourney, and they also carried home the honors in the basketball tourney. Hats off to our boys!

CLASS HISTORY

(CONT')

The combined efforts of the juniors and our class in concessions at the ball games netted each class 50 per cent of the receipts, or approximately 125 dollars.

Although Mr. Davis is very modest about his birthday, we did discover that he still has them, and on November 17 we surprised him at his home with a birthday party.

And now again we were struggling with our school play, which really took form on December 13 before a packed house. "Mr. Merkle's Muddle" turned dull moments into laughter for about two hours.

Our Constitution test in Government brought sweat to the brows, but was rewarded with big returns. With that event behind us, we really were able to enjoy our party in the gym February 28.

March 16 might just as well have been stricken from the records as far as our intellect and ability were concerned; for after that grand day in Detroit on March 15, who felt like studying, who felt like talking about anything but Detroit; in fact, we were so tired, who felt like talking about anything?

On May 18, we were really the honored guests, and the juniors surely made us feel as honored guest in the way that they entertained us with a grand banquet and everything that goes with it to make that evening one to be long remembered. And to you juniors, we wish to thank you most heartily for that grand reception.

Our Baccalaureate on May 20 was the first event of the week opening our Graduation activities; it was closely followed by our Class Night on May 22, with the Commencement on May 23.

And now, Dad and Mother, here we are tonight to enjoy the anniversary with you. This is the last page in the History of this family; all volumes to follow will be written by each individual.

CLASS PROPHECY

After farming for the past six years I decided to sell old Nellie and buy one of those new fangled autos and take a trip. But where to go, that was the question. After thinking it over I decided to go and find my old class mates of "51".

I knew that George Wilson was operating the Wilson's Hammer Mill in Millersburg so I went to see him first. After spending a day at his house, he told me that Esther Brenneman had married David Bartholomew. The next day I drove to Chicago and found the Bartholomews. I spent that night with them. They told me that Dick Simmons was to drive at the Indianapolis Speedway the next day. I told them that I would drive them to Indianapolis and they could take the train back.

The next day we drove to Indianapolis and arrived there just as the race was starting. We saw them start but didn't know which one was Dick. We watched the race; and as they came into the finish line, a little car, which was checkered and had a "51" on the side, was in first place. I told Dave that it must be Dick, and sure enough when they announced the winner it was, so we all went down to talk with him. I then left Dave and Esther and went with Dick to spend the evening, talking over old times. He said that Glen Showalter had bought the big hatchery on the outskirts of Indianapolis and that he would call him and tell him to come up for supper. We had a wonderful time that night.

The next morning Dick took me sight seeing on a bus. We had to wait a while on the driver to come; as soon as he came, I thought I had seen him before so I asked Dick who he was. He said that it was Ronald Miller. Dick said he had some shopping to do so I continued with Ronald the rest of the day.

That night he said that Peg Schrock had married John Lanzter and that they owned a hotel in Fort Wayne which they called "The Lazy Two." That night I drove to Fort Wayne to look up John and Peg. I got there in time to eat breakfast with them; they had a beautiful place. I asked them if they knew where any of the rest of the class lived. They said they had just gotten a letter from Lyle Burtsfield, and told me that he lived out side of Fort Wayne on a farm.

I headed for Lyle's place. John couldn't tell me exactly where he lived, but he did know the road he lived on. I was driving along when I saw a big sign ahead that said one mile to the "Double L" goat farm. I wondered at the time what a goat farm looked like and suddenly realized that the only person who would have a goat farm would be Lyle. The mile passed in a hurry. As I was pulling up to the farm, I knew it was Lyle's because I saw a big guy sitting on a Case tractor pulling a Kaiser car. Lyle was so surprised to see me that he invited me in for supper. I asked him why he called his farm the "Double L"? He laughed and said he had married Laura Juday. I spent most of the evening there and found out that Junior Miller was a sports announcer at a radio station in a small town near by.

The next morning I left Lyle's and decided to drive over and see Junior. I got there in the middle of his first broadcast. I waited till he was alone and then went into the studio to see him. Junior asked me to come along home with him for dinner, but he said he would have to stop at the grocery store and get some meat. While Junior was getting the meat, someone came and grabbed me. I turned around to face Bob Musselman laughing his head off. I asked him what he was doing for a living. He said that he owned the store and had been running it for some time. By this time Junior had gotten his meat and was ready to go home. I spent the rest of the day with him; then I went to a hotel to spend the night.

While I was in the lobby, a girl came up to me and asked if I knew a good place to eat. I looked around, and to my surprise there stood Burdene Sheline. We had a nice little chat, and then I asked her what she was doing there. She said she was traveling for the Polly Parrot Shoe Company. We had supper together and went to a show. We were staying at different hotels so I took her to her hotel and bid her good-bye.

The next morning I got up early to head for home. When I got home, I had a stack of mail a mile high so I started reading. The first letter was from Keith Shaffer saying he was an artist now painting a picture of Lois Swihart who had become a great movie star. He said that he was staying in New York at the Hotel Statler, and that he wished I were there. I wrote back to Keith and asked him if he knew where any of the other class members of "51" were. About a week later he replied that Hans Schmidt had become president of Germany and was doing a fine job. He said that Emily Scott was a nurse in a hospital in Boston.

I then wrote to Emily and asked if she knew where any of the old class mates were and what they were doing. She replied and said that Richard Smith had attended college four years and had become a doctor in Boston. Since I have seen and heard from every one of my classmates I feel that they have become quite an accomplished group.

ADVICE TO FACULTY

As we, the class of "51", have come back to renew the acquaintances of our school days, we want to get something off our minds which has been bothering us these many years. It is with deep regret that these goals could not have been given in the days when we were undergraduates as we are sure they would have made it so much more pleasent for the pupils at M. H. S.

First some advice to the teachers as a body. We advise you to form a union; that way you may be able to receive more wages. Also start calling the pupils with a Mr. or Miss before their names. They are important too, for without them you would not have a teaching job. You could be patriotic by saving paper and not writing a permit every-time someone leaves the room; you know you can trust us.

Now for some individual advice.

We advise Mr. Davis to allow the pupils to run in the halls. Can we help it if we are so eager to get to our next interesting classes. Also let the class tourney continue. We like to win one tournament in our high school days.

We advise Mr. LeCount to try some super method of coaching. By now you surely realize that Millersburg just doesn't have the material for a good basketball team. The track boys would like to get awards that we could be proud of every year instead of a dinky little tin shoe in our last year.

We advise Miss Fredonburg to grab a young man. You're not getting any younger.

We advise Mrs. Snyder to get a new hobby. Keeping pupils off the honor roll with a C plus gets mighty discouraging. But thanks a lot for a super job directing our play.

We advise Miss Saddler to stay at M. H. S. as it's not very often we get good looking women teachers. Thanks a million for helping on our annual, for without you we could not have published one.

We advise Miss Hoar not to let Dick eat a meal in the cafeteria. It might break the engagement, and that would be drastic.

We advise Mr. Troyer to join the Marines because they need good men like you.

We advise Mr. Howard to practice some of the things he teaches in farming. After all Purdue isn't always correct.

We cannot give Miss McDowell any advise as we feel sure she has done the best job possible with the music department at M. H. S.

GRUMBLE

Ever since we started a high school career four years ago, we have had the habit of grumbling. Some of us do it only part of the time while others do it almost all of the time.

Why did the freshman class always hang around in groups rather than a large portion of the class together? A class that works together gets along better than one which works separately.

Why does the freshman class usually have a greater per centage of its class on the honor roll than the other classes? Is it because they like to start off high school at a fast pace?

Why can't the classes pick their own sponsors instead of having them appointed? I think the classes would co-operate with the sponsor better.

Why do some persons always crab when a teacher tells them to get to work and stop loafing? After all, who gets the blame if the students make low grades in the course--the teacher.

Why is there a limit on those who can enter the library? It is for the school's use and is needed as a source for information.

Why can't the school get new basketball suits more often? It would look better and would help to make the boys feel like playing a better brand of basketball.

Why doesn't the classes of the high school go on more field trips? They always were both educational and fun before.

Why isn't there a clock in every room so the students can see what time it is? Maybe they wouldn't be late for the next class so often if they knew when the bell was going to ring.

Mr. LeCount wonders why every promising track star he gets either quits school or moves away before the track season opens.

Why do so many students who enter high school as a freshman drop out before their final year? The last year is the best year of all, you know.

Why can't the school have more and better maps around? You could get a lot more out of a course if there were more maps.

Why doesn't the school have a larger playground and better playground equipment? The way it is now, most of the students stand around at noon.

Why does Mr. Davis cough louder than anyone else in the school? It keeps the students from studying.

ADVICE TO FACULTY

Last but not least, we advise the cook to join the Waacs. Then maybe you could cook for 12 months a year instead of only 9. Under the circumstances we can compliment you for the good job you're doing.

We hope this has been taken in the manner it was given. All in fun.

GUMBLE

Why are the school clocks usually all different? They can't all be right.

Why don't they get new pictures in the study hall? The old ones date back to about 1805.

Why don't they rebuild or repair the steps leading to the study hall? It is like walking up a washboard.

Why do we have to go to school so long?

Where do the seniors get all the jokes they use in bookkeeping?

Why don't we have a longer noon hour?

Why do we have to write these grumbles? They are treated so lightly.

What is the matter with the school heating system?

Why did the bookkeeping class calm down all of a sudden?

Why doesn't the Millersburg Band ever get any new instruments?

Why don't they get the janitor a helper?

What happened to this year's track team.

Why do the agriculture boys like Mr. Howard so well?

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF -

Now that we children are back on the farm again with some leisure time on our hands, at last we have some time to just sit and think. This afternoon I was out wandering around the farm, visiting my childhood haunts where everything looked so calm and peaceful. I just sat down under an old shade tree, and it wasn't long before I began to wonder what would happen if:

Glen Larimer found out Laverle Bentley was really love sick?

Ronald Miller became the director of the Philharmonic Orchestra?

Mrs. Snyder would run up the stairs?

The senior and sophomore girls would have played the finish of the softball season game. The seniors would have won.

You'd see Sharon Kurtz and Pat Rockstool when they aren't so silly?

The sophomore class would associate with some of the other classes?

Mr. Troyer hadn't come here to teach? There'd have been no redhead in school for the freshman and sophomore girls to get a crush on.

There wasn't a bunch of 7th and 8th grade girls around Hans Schmidt all the time?

The juniors and seniors could dance at the reception?

The Millerette came out on time?

Boob and Bonnie would become a steady couple?

Ruby Zook could go with all the boys she claims she can?

Bob Musselman wouldn't make himself heard a mile away?

Junior Miller didn't become a wildman on the basketball floor?

Joy Carpenter would give George Wilson a chance to tell her that he loves her?

Mr. McCount had a warm room to teach in instead of an icebox?

Sue Burtsfield could make everyone believe that she doesn't like Bob Musselman?

Rose Ann Troyer would grow to be six feet tall?

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF -

(cont'd)

Miss Fredenburg found a boyfriend? Then she wouldn't have to make up stories about the one in Indianapolis.

Carlysle Chiddister would have gotten to play during the Rome City game? He wouldn't have gotten floor burns from falling off the bench.

Janice Rohrer wouldn't get so mad?

The senior class would get to take a week's trip?

Carol Hapner didn't think she was a glamour girl?

The sophomore girls couldn't skate with Mr. Troyer at the skating parties?

Mr. Davis didn't talk so much about Joan?

The F. H. A. and the F. F. A. would have a party together? Oh brother!

Glen Showalter wasn't going steady with Rosie? He might be able to play better basketball.

Mr. Davis wasn't a YANKEE fan?

The students could run in the halls. There'd be more accidents.

We'd have some good assembly programs?

Harry Prough became the star rebound man on the basketball team?

Steve Rippey would become a news commentator?

Keith Shaffer wouldn't have gotten so mad at the Rome City game? Bob Musselman wouldn't have had anyone to grab hold of.

Bob Rockstool's hair would be straight?

Richard Smith would wear his white shirt when it wasn't so dirty?

Ancil Schrock would turn out to be the great man he thinks he is?

Miss Hoar wouldn't make the kids take so many notes? Teachers ought to know that the kids aren't supposed to write notes in school.

Mr. LeCount would talk more about the lessons instead of his war experiences?

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF-
(cont'd)

Well, that's as far as my thoughts went, because it wasn't long until I saw that the sun was beginning to set and I knew that if I wanted any of that good, old-fashioned, home-made ice cream and cake I had better be starting back to the house. So even if these things don't come true, it's been lots of fun getting together and "just supposing."

WHO'S WHO

Who made the most points in the basketball season? Glen Stoudtin
Who wished he could have? Junior Miller.

Who's the quietest girl in school? Lois Swihart
Who should be? Louise Smith.

Who's the hot rod man of M. H. S.? Bob Larimer.
Who knows it? His Dad's car.

Who's going to be the big man of the basketball team next year? John Thomas.
Who thinks differently? Carlysle Chiddister.

Who's the Romeo of M. H. S.? Bob Musselman.
Who knows it? Anyone he went with.

Who can get girl friends? Richard Groff.
Who says you're better off without them? George Wilson.

Who runs the MILLERETTE with an iron hand. Keith Shaffer.
Who found it out? Miss Saddler.

Who's the dirty basketball player? Dick Simmons.
Who knows it? Anyone who plays with him.

Who blushes easily? Esther Brenneman.
Who knows it? Anyone who teases her about a certain last year's graduate.

Who's always hanging around the Study Hall at noon? All the Couples.
Who knows it? Anyone that gets sent there for running in the halls.

Who's going to the army after school? Mr. Troyer.
Who's going to miss him? All his many girl friends.

Who's got new cars at M. H. S.? The Faculty.
Who knows it? Anyone who hears them complain about their pay.

Who's always cutting up in government class? Bob Musselman.
Who knows it? Anybody who's trying to study.

Who should have a classroom with no seats? Mr. LeCount.
Who needs seats if you have to stand up all period anyway?

Who should go out for track to loose weight? Jim Redman.
Who thinks differently? Jim Redman.

Who lies around all summer and reads comic books? Lyle Burtsfield.
Who knows it? Anybody that wants him to do some work.

WHO'S WHO

Who found out the Student Manager job is no snap? Ronald Miller.
Who thinks it is? Boob Burtsfield.

Who found out that if you were a good catcher you wouldn't be hungry?
Anybody that saw a fish flying his way at the fish fry.

Who found out that there's no place like home? The Seniors when they got up at 2:00 to go on their Senior Trip.
Who wishes they would have stayed home? Anybody that lives in Detroit.

Who's always staying out late at night? John L. and Peg S.
Who knows it? Mr. Lentzer's new car.

Who's always late for class? Mr. Davis.
Who knows it? Mrs. Snyder's room.

Who found out that directing a play is no easy job. The Seniors.
Who agrees with them? Mrs. Snyder.

ADVICE TO JUNIORS

As we have gone through twelve years of school and have witnessed many things, we think that we are well qualify to give the juniors a bit of advice:

We advise Carlysle Chiddister to lose some of that weight; then maybe you wouldn't get floor burns from falling off the players' bench.

We advise Steve Rippey to become student manager again; after all, Steve, you have to be good to play on the second team.

We advise Marilyn Litwiller to have Mel Slabach come back to school; it gets lonesome without him, doesn't it, Marilyn?

We advise Jim Redman to figure out his own rations for beef cattle in Agriculture; you know, Jim, you can't believe what some people say.

We advise John Thomas to stop drinking cokes at the county tourney; then maybe you wouldn't have to run so many laps.

We advise Rose Ann Troyer to get married to Glen; then she could be boss all the time, not just half of it.

We advise Louise Smith to go with someone your own age; there is quite a difference between 16 and 23, don't you think?

We advise Glen Larimer to get a car; Laverle said it wasn't private enough with some one else along.

We advise Carol Petry to get lower grades in school. Some of the boys don't like to go with girls smarter than they are.

We advise Pete Manges to do something in the study hall besides watching the clock all the time.

We advise Bob Larimer to slow down when the roads are covered with ice. You may not be so lucky the next time that you drive off the over head bridge.

We advise Bud Kurtz and Bill Lowallen to watch what they shoot at with their 22 rifles; some people don't like holes in their barn roofs.

We advise Richard Kohr to take up another trade besides pumping gas. With all your intelligence you should be teaching school.

We advise Galen Hite to trade his old Model T in on something newer; then maybe some of the girls will go with you.

(cont'd)

We advise Laverle Berkey to ask Glen Larimer for a date; after all Laverle, Glen is sort of backward on the subject.

We hope that this will be taken in fun, as it was given that way.

CLASS WILL

Being of sound mind and body, as far as we know, and under the supervision of Mr. Davis we, the Senior Class, are ready to make known our last will and testament.

I, Glen Showalter, will my ability to go steady to the future M. H. S. couples.

I, Bob Musselman, will my voice to the M. H. S. cheering section.

I, Keith Shaffer, will my way with girls to Carlysle Chidister.

I, Richard Groff, will my curly hair to Larry Simmons.

I, George Wilson, will my Mighty Might tractor to Bill Lewellen for his farming.

I, Junior Miller, will my wildness to Arlene Saegers to tame down.

I, Pee Schrock, will my-just for the heck of it, just for fun, you finish what I've begun.

I, Richard Smith, will my red nose to Mr. Davis for sentimental reasons.

I, Lois Swihart, will my smartness to Dale Showalter so he can play basketball next year.

I, Esther Brenneman, will my Dave to no one.

I, Ronald Miller, will my wrist watch to Mrs. Snyder's Bookkeeping Class, to put up where everybody can see it.

I, Burdene Sheline, will my coming late to school to Glen Larimer.

I, Dick Simmons, will my ability to skip school to Glen Petry.

I, Emily Scott, will my croquet playing to Janice Rohrer.

I, John Lantzer, will my speed to Jim Redman.

I, Hans Schmidt, will my German accent to Bob Larimer.

I, Lyle Bartsfield, will my weight to Donald Nelson if he can carry it.

If we have forgotten anyone,we are sorry; but there are only seventeen seniors to will their possessions. If you were left out,you will have to wait until next year. Now if you'll excuse us we have to finish the chores.

Salutatory

Teachers, Parents, Classmates, and Friends;

We, the class of "51," feel thankful for the opportunity to welcome you as guests to our class night. We feel it is a pleasure to do so and bid you welcome. We hope you enjoy the program we have arranged for you.

For the past four years we have been looking forward to this celebration. When we started as freshmen, we had many more enrolled in our class and are sorry that they had to drop out.

Despite the fact that there are but a few of us, our class functioned very well. Because each one did his work, we pulled through these last four years.

When we started as a class a few years ago, we chose "Launched But not Anchored," as our class motto. We have launched a career but as yet aren't anchored.

For the Seniors of next year and all the future years to follow, we wish them the best of luck and hope they receive the aid and cooperation from their parents, teachers, and friends that we received.

We, the class of "51," wish to thank you and all others who made it possible for us to go to school. We feel that we owe our achievement and success to you and hope that we can be a credit to your efforts.

BASKETBALL

The Millers had another unsuccessful season, winning only six games. The Millers started the season by giving a tall Shipshewana team a very close game. Then they defeated Jefferson and Ligonier by playing heads up ball. Then the Millers went into a slump and lost to some teams that they should have beaten easily.

After losing seven consecutive games the Millers rose to the occasion in the holiday tourney and beat Bristol 56 to 52. Then came four more defeats. Two were very close with Topeka eking out a one point decision and New Paris winning 52 to 49 in the County Tournament.

Then the Millers pulled out of their slump and won three straight, beating Rome City 40 to 36, Bristol 53 to 43, and Wawaka 58 to 53. Wakarusa took the wind out of the Millers' sails in the final game of the regular season when Dave Ummel scored 57 points for the Indians.

The Millers met a red hot Goshen team that hit 46% of their shots in the Sectional and were defeated 84 to 59. The Millers scored more points than any previous Millersburg team but also had more scored against them.

BASKETBALL PERSONALITIES

Robert Musselman was the tallest man on the squad and his rebounding was a big asset to the team. He moved up from the second team in early season and soon secured a starting berth. Bob is a senior. Bob was also on the softball team.

Richard Groff, another senior who grew a lot during the summer, was a regular on the team and was a good rebounder. He was one of the most improved players over last year.

Richard Simmons, another senior guard, was very accurate on set shots. Because of lack of height he did not play regular.

Glen Showalter was a small but fast senior forward who was the team high scorer with 253 points. This is believed to be a school record for individual points in one season. He was a regular on the softball team the past three seasons. Glen played on the varsity team for two years.

Junior Miller was another senior guard who played two years on the varsity. He also was on the softball team the past two seasons.

Keith Shaffer, another senior forward, was always in there fighting for the ball. He also was a member of the softball team the past two seasons.

John Lantzer, the fast moving, hard driving senior guard, was a very capable regular.

Carlsyle Chiddister, a junior, was center on the first five most of the season.

Glen Larimer, the sleepy-eyed junior seemed to know his way around the basketball floor.

Bud Kurtz played most of the season on second team; later moved up for the sectional tourney squad.

John Thomas played most of the season on second team; later moved up to the first team and played on the squad for the sectional.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

GIRLS

The high school girls have enjoyed a number of different sports this year.

During the warm weather in the fall we played softball. We had a girls' softball tourney with the freshmen losing the first game to the sophomores. The seniors then defeated the juniors. Then came the great play-off between the sophomores and the seniors who were defending their title. The sophomores won the championship.

When cold weather came, we started playing in the gym. In February the girls' basketball tourney was played. The freshmen were defeated by the sophomores 30 to 4. The juniors played the seniors with the seniors winning 8 to 6. In the final game the sophomores once again won the girls' tourney by defeating the seniors 13 to 9.

When basketball season ended, the girls started playing volleyball in the gym.

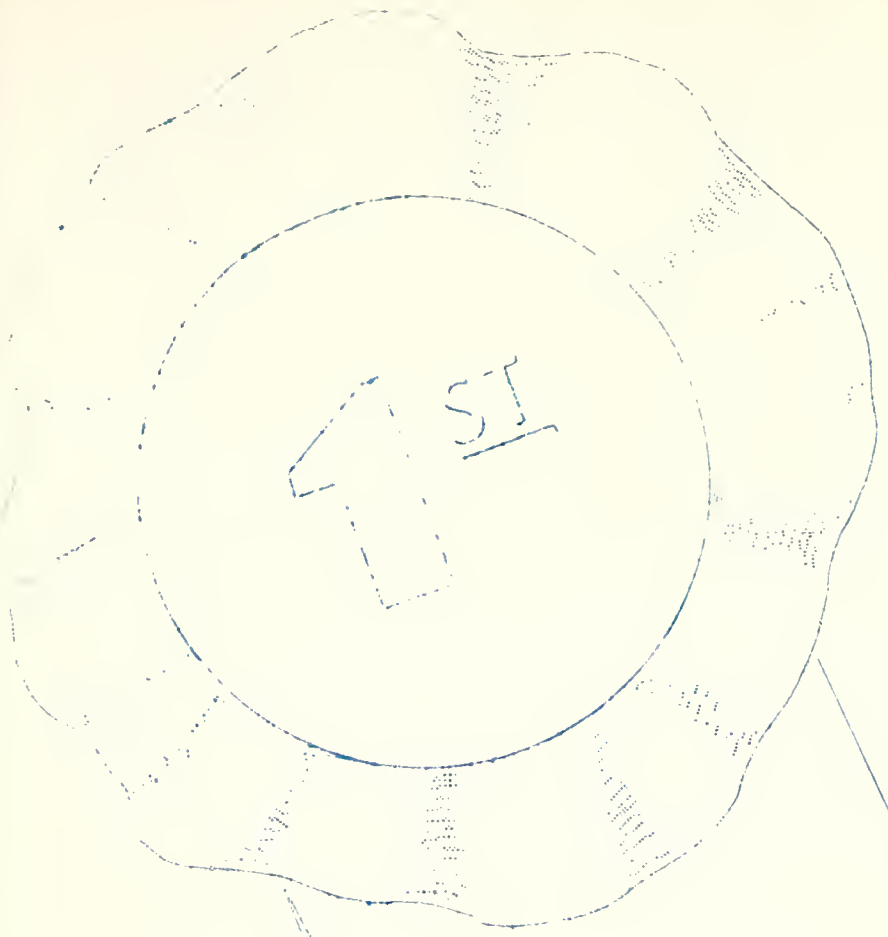
BOYS

Ping pong and shuffleboard were played through out the wintor with ping pong being more popular. Volleyball also became a favorite sport after the basketball season. The seniors dominated the classs tourneys in both softball and basketball.

The seniors whipped the juniors 10 to 0 and the freshies 13 to 3 to capture the softball crown. The freshmen had to whip the sophomores in order to enter the final game.

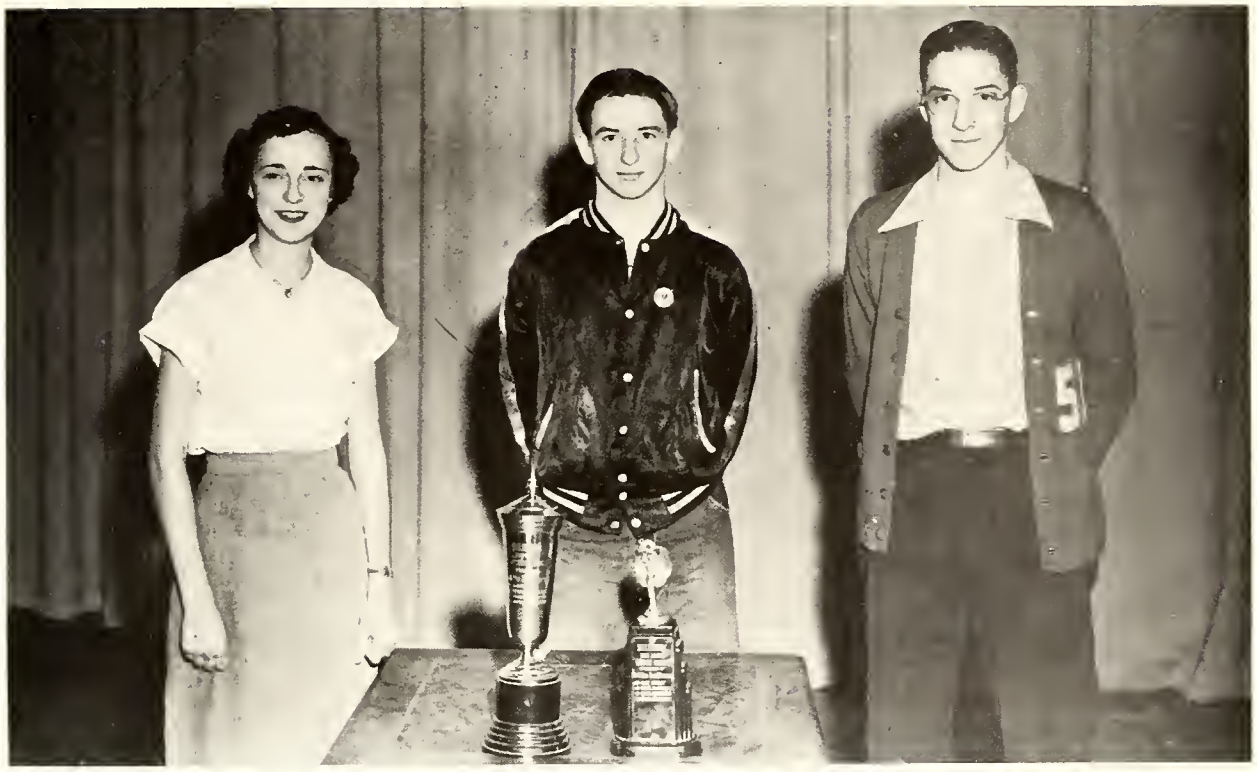
The basketball tourney had no close games as were expected as the seniors had little trouble beating the juniors 47 to 22 in the tourney opener. The freshmen staved off a late rally by the sophomores to win 37 to 31. The juniors disposed of the sophomores 63 to 34 to capture third place. The seniors then won from a fighting freshmen team 62 to 42 to win the championship.

After the weather turned nice enough to be out doors, we played football and softball.



AWARDS

Reading and Oratorical Contest



LEFT TO RIGHT: Carol Hapner, Junior Miller, Ronald Miller.

The annual Reading and Oratorical Contest sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers was held in the high school gymnasium on May 3, 1950.

The readings were judged by Professor Ummel. The five students taking part in the readings were Carol Hapner, Louise Smith, Junior Miller, Ronald Miller, and Robert Musselman.

The first prize winners of each contest received a gold medal and $5.00 in cash. A silver medal and $2.50 in cash went to each of the second place winners. The third prize winner received a bronze medal.

The prize winners and their readings and orations follow:

READINGS:

1. "Casey at the Bat" by Junior Miller
2. "Paw Rents a Modern Apartment" by Ronald Miller
3. "The Bear Story" by Carol Hapner

ORATIONS:

1. "What Does Education Mean To Us" by Phyllis Cripe
2. "Freedom and Democracy" by Gail Kurtz
